LiveRez.com Pioneers All-In-One Vacation Rental Software Solution

The company's cloud-based platform provides vacation rental managers with everything they need to run their business

BOISE, Id. — With its cloud-based end-to-end platform, LiveRez.com is creating a new “all-in-one” technology category for vacation rental software.

Since its release in 2008, the platform has grown to nearly 500 manager partners, making LiveRez.com the single largest and fastest growing software platform in the industry.

The Boise-based company's platform seamlessly integrates a dynamic consumer-facing website with a reservation system, allowing for real-time bookings – much like hotels. The system also offers:

- Integration with QuickBooks for trust accounting
- A 3-click path to booking to accelerate online sales
- A progressive “Pay-Per-Performance” pricing plan
- The industry's fastest deployment time
- A content management system that gives users complete control of their websites
- Web-based work orders and housekeeping functions
- A full suite of reporting tools
- An affiliate marketing program
- Integration with credit card processing and travel insurance
- And cloud hosting, which provides for behind-the-scenes updates and 24-7 accessibility online.

“We developed this platform with the vacation rental manager in mind, incorporating feedback from real managers in an effort to create a complete solution for their businesses,” said Tracy Lotz, founder and CEO of LiveRez.com. “Our goal was, and still is, to offer managers the best features, seamlessly integrated, and all in one place.”

As an all-in-one cloud-based product, LiveRez.com is continually developing and rolling out new features to further extend its all-in-one platform and to make life easier for vacation rental managers.
